

A Long, Long Time Ago

Well, a long, long, long, long, long, long time ago,
Way back before us,
There lived a bunch of special creatures you should know—

The dinosaurs.

Some had great big legs, some had great big heads.

They laid great big eggs in their great big beds.
But then the whole world changed; now they all are dead,

Leaving only bones to show us
How they looked a long, long, long, long, long,
long time ago!

Well, a long, long, long, long, long, long
time ago,
When life was swampy,
When oceans covered all the mountains we now know,

The dinosaurs were stomping 'round.
Some ate plants and some ate meat;
Some flew, some swam to beat the jungle heat;
Some ran on two, others on four feet;
Some were fast and some were slow.

That was such a long, long, long, long, long,
long time ago!

The dinosaurs were gone before the first man came

But we know quite a lot about them just the same

From the bones and footprints which remain,
Fossiled pictures in the stone
Of how they looked

A long, long, long, long, long, long time ago!
